CAT-TASTIC!

Mass Production, 2023, Fort Worth, Texas, Team ID: [redacted], Chapter ID: [redacted]

Table of Contents

Page 1: Title Page → Page 2: Table of Contents → Page 3: Product Details and Safety Considerations

Page 4-6: Design Efforts → Page 7: Orthographic Drawing → Page 8: Labeled Product Drawing

Page 9: Materials, Tools, & Machines List → Page 10: Production Plan → Page 11: Photographs

Product Details & Safety Considerations

Our product is a remote-control organizer for 4 remotes, as to the theme. It is stylized to look like a cat, an interest of pre-teens and teenagers alike. To add to the design, we made it a Bluetooth speaker. To play music, flip the switch on the side of the product, and connect to “KATTASTIC”. Then play your favorite jams! The volume adjustment is on the device that the product is connected to. It also comes with a charging cable in the packaging. Our product is useful because it comes with many features, including its Bluetooth capacities, a friendly design for kids and teens alike, and of course, the remote-control holder feature. This product is targeted towards all genders, people ages 8-16, and all races. We took many precautions to make sure our product is safe, such as using non-toxic paint and making sure all wires are carefully tucked away.

4

Design Efforts

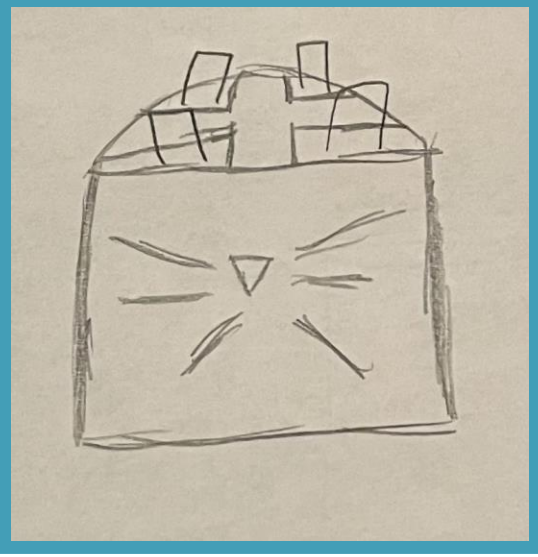
Milany – When trying to figure out how to make a remote-control organizer interesting, I was kind of stumped. Then, after a trip to the local Walmart, I saw how many cat related products there were. I mean, there were cat pencil holders, cat headphones, cat slippers, and it goes on. Cats are a very marketable animal, and I knew it could give our organizer a bit more pizazz!

Ivana – I started looking for remote-control holder designs and found that this was the most common one. It looked really boring to me and I knew it had room for improvement. Despite this, it didn't make the cut. However, my initial thoughts of making the design more interesting stuck with me, I knew I wanted something colorful, which is shown in the flower design. I think the cat idea we produced really ended up improving the boring designs we had seen, even if it isn't all that colorful.

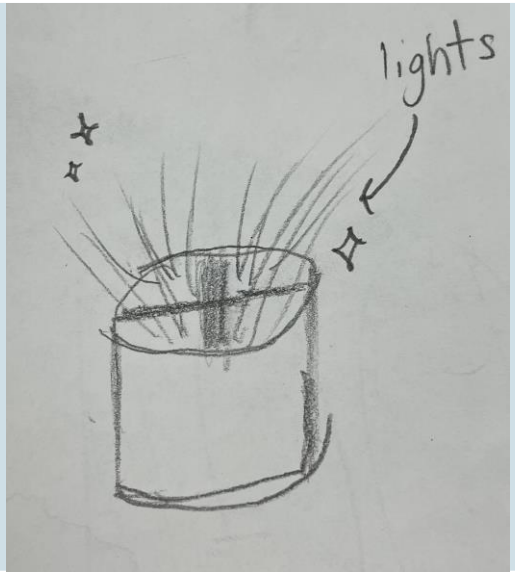
5

Design Efforts

Milany - This was one of my first sketches. The cat design was simpler, and the top was rounded. I don't think this was a bad design, I just think it could've been improved!



Ivana – I had thought of adding lights to our design because it would be a helpful feature. Sadly, it didn't make it to the final design, but it was a nice starting point, as we knew we wanted to add something knew to it.



6

Design Efforts

Milany - This is a clipping of an article about a cat named Cole, who won the 2021 contest for America's Favorite Pet. This also helped me learn that America truly did love cats, and it wasn't just us.

AMERICA'S FAVORITE PET

COLE IS THE CAT'S MEOW

Silly, playful, and cuddly — three of the many attributes that made the world fall in love with Cole during the 2021 America's Favorite Pet competition.

By Anne-Marie Pritchett

FOR SEVERAL WEEKS, SOME of the most lovable, quirky, adorable, inspiring, and fabulous felines have clawed their way toward the title of America's Favorite Pet — but only one can prevail as the winner.

Introducing Cole, a beautiful 9-year-old black cat who has captured the hearts of animal lovers near and far. Cole was found on the side of the road by his people parents, Chris and Jess, when he was a wee kitty (around 5 or 6 weeks old). This little survivor was covered in fleas, and he was discovered to be anemic. Cole was one of the lucky ones. "We're not sure what breed he is, but we always say that RESCUED is the BEST breed," said Chris. While Cole's human parents are partial to Cole, they respect and admire all the other felines in the competition, "I'm sure you're all super pawsome cats, too. Please keep showing all the humans out there how great it is to be owned by cats... the more cats in loving homes the better! #AdoptDontShop."

"WE'RE NOT SURE WHAT BREED HE IS, BUT RESCUED IS THE BEST BREED"

Cole resides in Florida, where he loves to sit atop the cat tree that is closest to the kitchen so he can survey his territory. "He's a big fan of Kitty TV (looking out the window). We have lots of animals to watch: birds, squirrels, lizards, frogs, snakes... we even have turtles in our yard, too." Sounds like the purrfect spot for a curious cat. Some days Cole can have a more serious approach to his life, especially when compared to his younger and goofier brother, Marmalade. But Cole can be very frisky too, "He loves to play with shoelaces and especially Nerf darts (I'm a big kid, so, yes, I have a Nerf gun). And now, when he hears me load the gun, he'll meow and come running, ready to play! I'll shoot them off down the hall, and he'll go running after them like they're the best thing EVER! The trouble is, you have to get the darts back fast, otherwise he'll chew them up! Obviously, we're always monitoring."

Cole does love his cuddle time though, which might have something to do with what he's been going through lately. "Cole has been battling nasal lymphoma, so it's been rough for him (and us). He's been having chemotherapy and radiation treatments and, fortunately, he has responded well. He's been very brave and we're confident with vet treatment and all the pawsitive vibes that have come our way from his fans, he'll be cancer free for a very long time! Thanks everyone."

While Cole's parents weren't entirely expecting this black beauty to take home the top prize, they knew he had a PAWSOME chance. "We have amewowing dedicated followers out there we fondly call the "CAM FAM" who voted for us daily." And, in the final seconds, when Chris and Jess realized that Cole was king, they couldn't have been more thrilled for so many reasons. "We're so happy that a black cat won and that he'll be featured in Catster magazine.

The reason why we started sharing Cole videos and photos back in 2012 was because we found out that black cats have a harder time being adopted because of silly superstitions and that they're often overlooked in shelters. People tend to gravitate towards cats with colored and patterned coats. So, whenever Cole gets recognition like this, we see it as a big win for black cats everywhere!"

Cole's family plans to donate the prize money to two local non-profits: The Runaways Animal Rescue and Chubby's Cat Crusade. Jess is a board member with each rescue, and they both help me out so much with cats and kittens that I've rescued off the streets. We know the money will be used to help as many cats in need as possible."

@coleandmarmalade
@catmanchrispoole

paws.

Ivana – When I found out there was a "Modern Cat" magazine, I knew this was the right direction to go. These fuzzy creatures truly are loved, and it's a great marketing strategy. I also personally love cats, and I know my partner does too, so this was really reassuring that we weren't just letting our own interests take over.

moderncat

Let's Play! Toys to THRILL Your Cat p.28

HOW TO Catify Your Home Must-Dos for a Happy Cat

WANT IT! Stylish Cat Finds

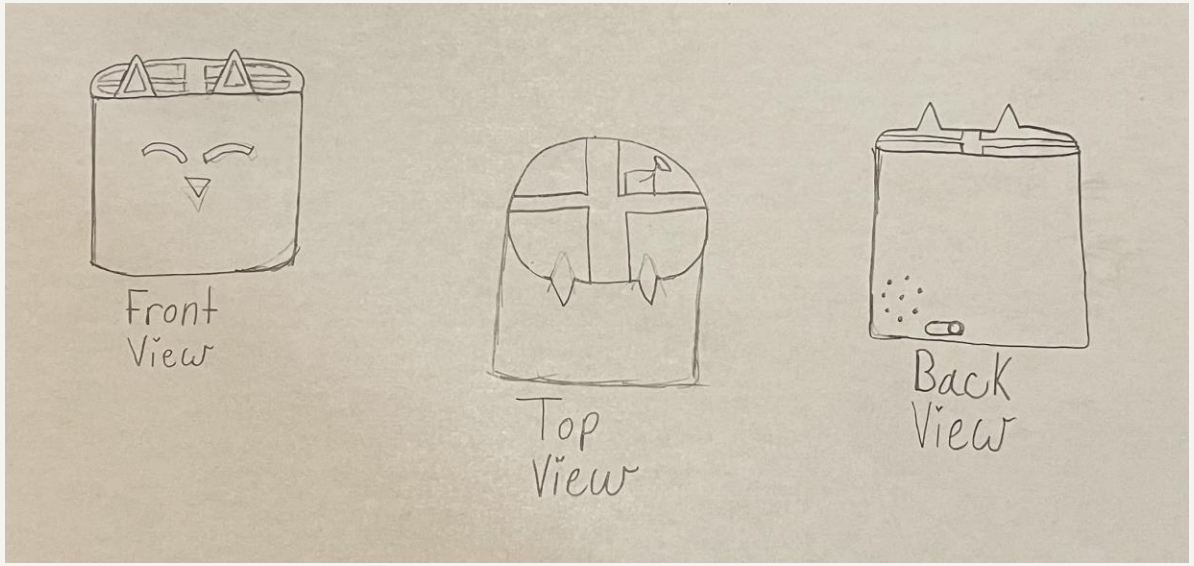
Cats & Yoga

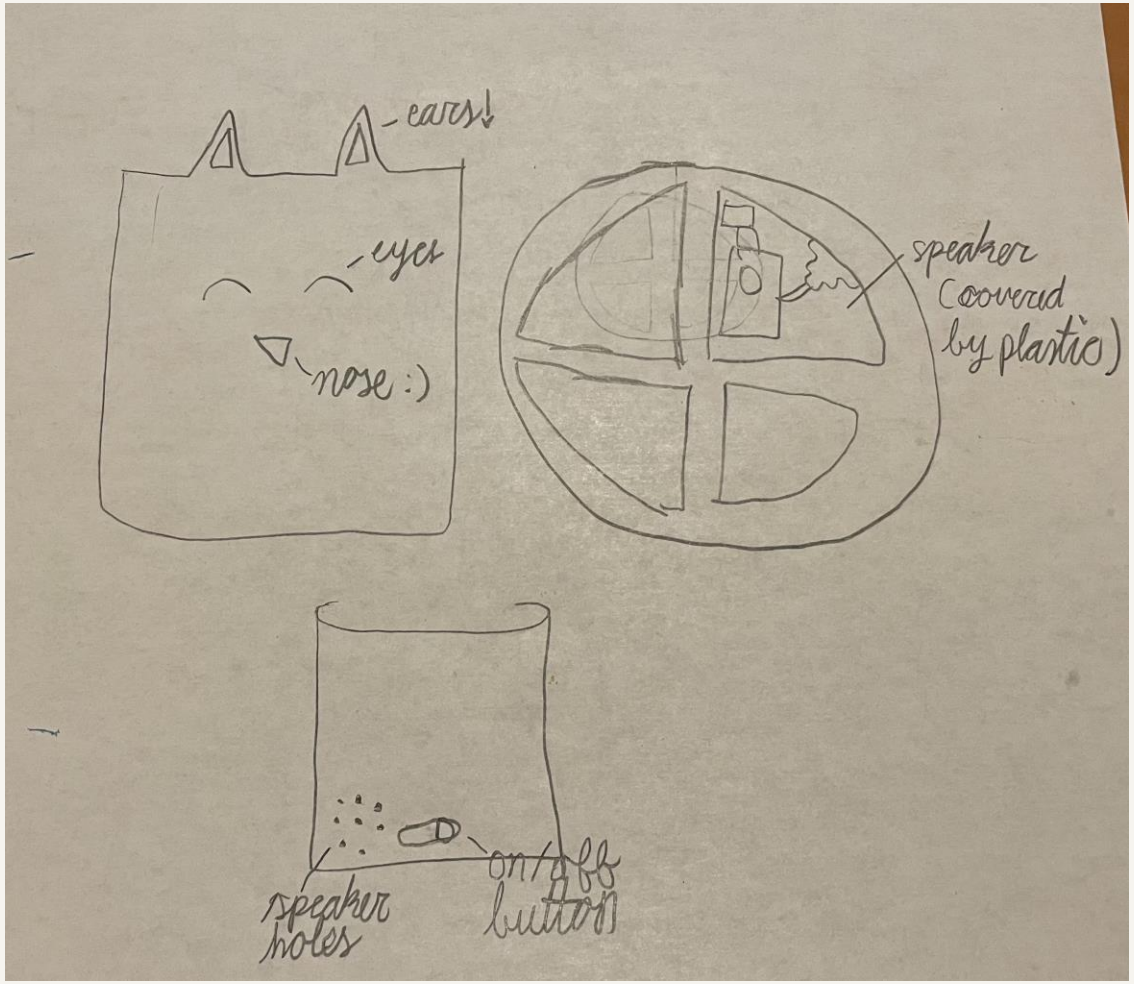
Giveaway! CBD & Your Cat

Cool Cat Ladies

7

Orthographic Drawing





Labeled Drawing

Materials

1st Prototype:

- Cardboard - $0

2nd Prototype:

- Filament - $24

3rd Prototype:

- Filament - $24
- Bluetooth speaker - $
- Plexiglass - $0
- Paint - $10

Tools, and Machines

1st Prototype:

- Hot glue gun – $10
- Scissors - $3

2nd Prototype:

- TinkerCAD - $0
- 3D Printer - $200

3rd Prototype:

- Hot glue gun - $10
- Screwdriver - $20
- Soldering Iron - $20
- TinkerCAD
- 3D printer - $200

Production Plan

Review and discuss the theme

Brainstorm ideas

- Make it unique
- Think of Helpful additions
- Discuss target consumers
- Safety considerations

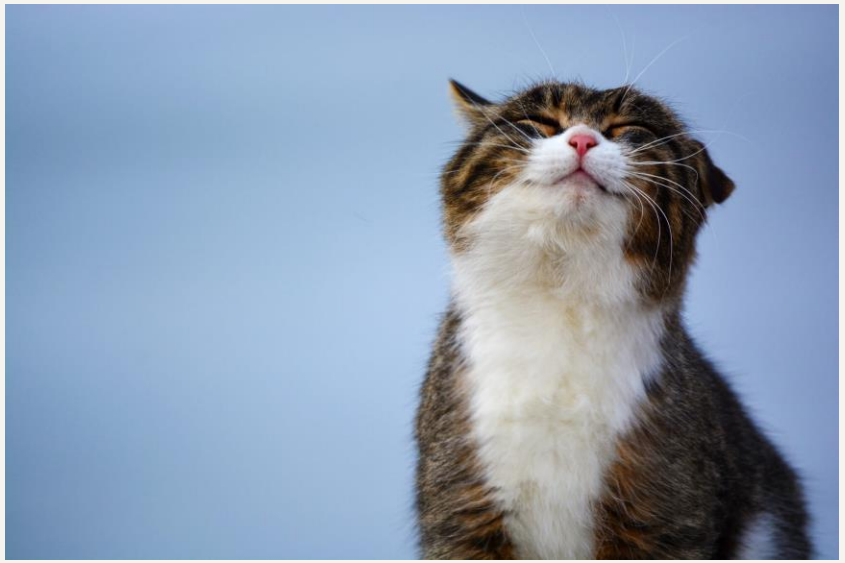
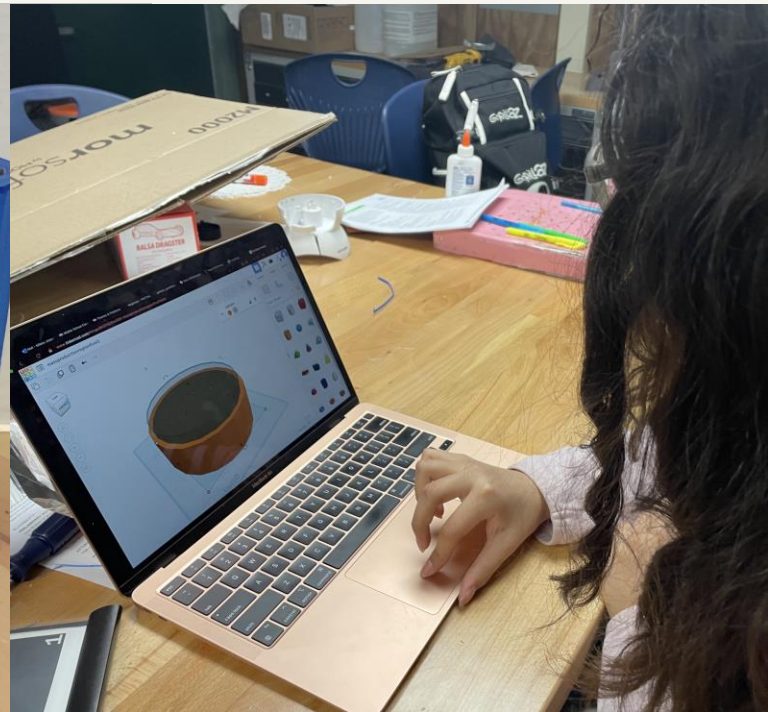
Material Planning

Creating 1st, 2nd, and 3rd prototype



Photographs



Photographs